Project: Chapter Shed Clean up

Members present: Sarah S, Ashley B and a visit from Cathy!

Date: 6-27-17 6:30- 8:00pm

Sarah S and I met on June 27th from 6:30-8:00 pm to organize and inventory the Monticello Women of Today Chapter shed, located at Cathy's house. The Master Chapter Shed Contents list was updated, printed, and posted on the clipboard located on the back wall of the shed. We did not yet update the individual content sheets located on the underside of each tote lid, because we wanted to seek input from other members if they would like us to continue to do this. Our thoughts were that since the Master Shed Content list notes the items and location where they are in the shed, we might not need to have individual content sheets. If members would like to continue with the individual content sheets we will update them and get them in the totes shortly.

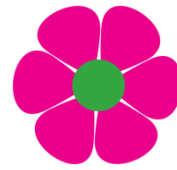

WANTED!! FLYERS CONCESSION VOLUNTEERS

The first Flyer Concession stand participation will be on July 15th. When you volunteer to help at this event you get a front-row viewing of the remote controlled airplane flights at the Grassfield RC Club. This fun-raising event helps to cover the cost of State convention lodging. Contact Sharon Scholl or Arlis Thielke if you're interested.

FLOWER POWER

Wellness Corner

Walk for liver wellness -- Walk fun run will be on Sunday, September 24, 2017 at Lake Rebecca Park in Rockford. More when the time is closer.

Since we are highlighting women's health issues, please feel free to contact us on any topic you feel will benefit the group.

Start tracking your steps. State Program Manager Donna would like us to have a goal of 1534 miles by April 2018.

Acronym/Term of the Month:

Presidential Pin – Awarded to only 100 recipients on the state and national level who are recognized for outstanding contributions and leadership in the Women of Today

Please bring your dimes to our chapter meeting in August. We will be collecting dimes at the meetings through March 2018. The goal is to fill the jar at least once!

Thanks! Bonita and Barb

MNWT.ORG

Have you ever gone to the MNWT.org website? There is a lot of information on there. To encourage our members to look on that site, here is a challenge for you. Look for a video with 2 of our members in it. It is from about 2-3 years ago and it keeps hanging out on the site. The video is good information. Also, you may learn something you didn't know about Women of Today as you search. If you know who the 2 members are email Glorie. There will be a prize at the August meeting. Good Luck finding it! More experienced members may already know what this is about. You can enter too. There will be a prize drawing.

Mentor Moment

Is there a person who has really helped you get going in Women of Today. Someone you may call a mentor? If there is a person you would like to recognize, Email Glorie. I will try to recognize any and all mentors. I have a few that I would like to recognize and I bet you do too. I will not recognize everyone at once but throughout the year. I plan to keep this reminder in the Newsletter "Flower Power" in the next few months. We are all important!

Women's Self Defense Course

Tuesday August 1, 2017 600pm. Glorie's house. Glorie's husband Brent has been teaching Martial Arts for over 20 years. He enjoys teaching women to be aware of their surroundings and a few techniques to use if ever needed. Some of his students should be there to help us learn and show off a little bit.

FLOWER POWER

Rhubarb Custard Pie

Bonita Klein

8 inch pastry crust
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1 cup sugar
3 T flour
1 tsp vanilla
½ cup whipping cream
3 cups rhubarb

Beat eggs and sugar together, stir in flour, vanilla and cream. Place rhubarb in the mixture, pour into crust.

Topping:

½ c. sugar
1/3 c. flour
4 T. soft butter, not melted
½ tsp cinnamon

Combine ingredients, sprinkle on top of pie. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 minutes: lower heat to 350, bake for 40-45 minutes. Recipe from the Drummer by Darlene Dixon. Used this recipe with my first rhubarb cutting this spring, It was yummy!

Broccoli with Garlic Butter and Cashews

½ pounds fresh broccoli, cut into bite pieces
1/3 cup butter
1 tablespoon brown sugar
3 tablespoons soy sauce

2 teaspoons white vinegar
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
2 cloves garlic, minced
1/3 cup chopped salted cashews

Directions:

Place the broccoli into a large pot with about 1 inch of water in the bottom. Bring to a boil, can cook for 7 minutes, or until tender but still crisp. Drain and arrange on a serving platter. While the broccoli is cooking, melt the butter in a small skillet over medium heat. Mix in the brown sugar, soy sauce, vinegar, pepper and garlic. Bring to a boil, and then remove from the heat. Mix in the cashews, and pour the sauce over the broccoli. Serve immediately.

Zucchini Recipe

Barbara Boeck

2 small zucchini
1 can of tomatoes (fresh in the summer)
One onion
Bacon (optional) brown bacon, pour off fat leaving 1 TBS
1 cup of cheddar Cheese

Put bacon on plate sauté zucchini and onion
When it is done add bacon and tomato, when they are warm add cheese.
This feeds Jim and I. I have used it for a vegetable or a meal for the two of us.

Calico Cole Slaw

Karen Moores

Prep Time 15 minutes - Chilling time 4 hours
6 servings
2 cups cauliflower
2 cups prepared cole slaw mix
1 cup (4oz) cheddar cheese
¼ cup red onion
1 medium (1/2 cup) carrot, shredded
1 (8oz) bottle cucumber dressing
5 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled

Toss all ingredients together until well coated, cover and refrigerate at least 4 hours

Rhubarb Punch Kay Schrodin

Cut up 2 QTS of rhubarb. Put in a large kettle and cover the rhubarb with water. Boil for 10-15 minutes until it is tender. Add 1 cup of sugar and 1 small box of red jello. Cook until dissolved. Strain. Add 1 more QT of water. Chill and Serve
